

Divulgando la cultura en dos idiomas spreading the culture in two languages

PORTADA / Home Page

New exhibit at Guadalupe Center Art Gallery answers questions about the Aztecs

By Carmen Cardinal

Did the Aztec Indians disappear after the Spanish conquered them, and were they savages and cannibals, as Spanish folklore depicts them?

Forget what you've heard about them, Maestro Sergio Oceloacoatle Ramirez told Alta Vista students in Kansas City. Ramirez was in Kansas City to participate in the opening of a photo exhibit at the Guadalupe Center's Art Gallery, which will be featured until Nov. 7.

(VCCR).More...

Sergio Ramirez and Iruipapalli Lopez perform a prayer dance during the opening ceremonies of the art exhibit at the Guadalupe

Keyword Search

GO

Click on "ESP" or "ENG" to switch from English to Spanish

Noticias/News

- LOCAL- Cancer awareness in KC: Part two
- NACIONAL- Immigrants should seek professional help regarding their rights
- LOCAL- Legal Solutions
- INTL- ARGENTINA- Film industry booming, despite economic challenges
- INTL-CUBA-Familiarity Breeds Tolerance for Sexual Diversity, Specialists Hope
- INTL- COLOMBIA- Paramilitaries extend their tentacles!
- INTL- COLOMBIA- Indigenous people say 'no' to idb loans
- INTL- ARGENTINA-Non-profits fight monopoly, demand broadcasting licences
- INTL- URUGUAY- Cheated savers despair over slow pace of justice

EDUCACION/Education

EDITORIAL/Editorial

- Editorial -Do we really care about education?
- El Chismoso ONLINE!

SALUD/Health

- Sólo para mujeres
- TGIT: Thank Goodness it's tailgating season

NEGOCIOS/Business

- The call to action – Starting your own business
- Ian Bautista heads El Centro

DEPORTES/Sports

- 'Playoffs' de béisbol acerca a los finales
- Deportes locales
- Team ARMY takes Banquet 400 at Kansas Speedway
- Torneo de los Barrios